MARINE'S TRIAL HAS BEEN BEGUN

DEATH OF YOUNG SUTTON IS RELATED IN DETAIL.

TELLS OF HAPPENINGS

Mother of Dead Officer Has Brought About the Re-Opening of the Case.

Annapolis, Md., July 20.—The 2nd investigation of the mysterious death of Lieut. Sutton, nearly two years ago is of the most sensational interest to military circles in recent years.

That officer, while a student at the school of application at Annapolis in October, 1907, was killed by a pistol shot under mysterious circumstances. A board of officers which investigated the case at the time reported that the shot was fired by his own hand.

The members of his family were not at all satisfied with that conclusion. At their urgent request the department has consented to have another investigation. Several officers of the marine corps who have knowledge of the tragedy have been ordered home from stations in the Philippines for examination.

Lieutenant Sutton came to his death early Sunday morning, October 12, 1907. He had two other officers, Se-the other two officers got out and Sutton, got into the machine.

"I don't know the names of two of them, but Lieutenant Adams got in the seat with me and the others in the machine. The officers appeared to be in good spirits and seemed friendly, but Lieutenant Adams kept pretty quiet.

"He ordered me to go through the Naval Academy grounds and on across the bridge to what we call the dump. It is a vacant lot.

"When we got to the dump Lieutenant Adams jumped out and said: 'Sutton, you've got to fight. Sutton and the other two officers got out and Sutton said: 'I have nothing to fight about.' He took out some money and paid me for the fare. Just then Lieutenant Adams jerked off his coat and hat and made a rush for Sutton. Sutton stepped to one side and I heard him say: 'Oh, I'll fight if I can fight you must have.'

"Lieutenant Adams then made another rush and the other two officers grabbed Sutton, one on each arm. Then they ordered me to beat it and I started up my machine and came away. I heard no pistol shot not did I hear any outcry.

Lieutenant R. E. Adams of the Marine Corps has been brought back to the United States from China, not alone to face another board of inquiry to investigate the circumstances of the death of Lieutenant James N. Sutton but to answer in the criminal courts to the charge of murder. The navy board had begun its investigation and notice has been given the young officer that he will be

G. O. P. STATE MEETING IN "OLE VIRGINIA"

Gathering of Republicans of Old Dominion a Topic of Interest in Washington.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Washington, D. C., July 20.—On the eve of the assembling of the Virginia Republican convention at Newport News there is much interest among the politicians here in the Old Dominion in the situation in the Old Dominion. The convention will name candidates for governor and other state officers to be voted for at the election this fall.

Although Virginia has heretofore been a strong democratic state, republican leaders express confidence that conditions are decidedly in their favor, owing to dissensions in the democratic party. Many well informed politicians declare that the state is ripe for a political revolution.

State expenditures during Governor Swann's administration have largely increased without appreciable betterment of conditions. The republican party, therefore, pledges itself to insert a clause in its platform providing for a decrease in state expenditures. Another issue is the appointment of state officials by the governor. The republicans declare that there two hundred or more appointments should be by special act of the legislature reposed in the hands of the people, by whom they should be elected at the polls.

Other planks the republicans will incorporate in their platform are abolition of poll tax, local option and reform in the tax law. That the platform will be along lines of reform never before known in the state is vouched for by party leaders.

A. P. Gillespie of "Taggart" can have the gubernatorial nomination if he will accept it. Mr. Gillespie's strength lies in the fact that he is an able business man, who has achieved partisan politics, and is therefore strong with the independent voters of the state. He is an extensive land owner, which makes him popular with the farmers, and one of the foremost members of the Virginia bar. He has a large clientele among the coal producers of southwest Virginia, where he is known as a brilliant lawyer. He has never held any political position.

It is understood that President Taft has personally urged Mr. Gillespie to become the republican standard-bearer in the approaching campaign, and on all sides it is admitted that he would be able to give the democratic candidate, whether the latter be H. George Tucker or Judge Mann, a hard fight for election. Nevertheless there is much doubt as to whether Mr. Gillespie can be prevailed upon to accept the nomination. Should he decline to allow his name to be presented to the convention the contest for the head of the ticket will be fought out among a field of favorite sons.

BELIEVE MINISTER COMMITTED SUICIDE

Former Milwaukee Parson Who Disappeared At De Kalb, Ill., Thought to Have Ended Life.

Milwaukee, July 20.—Rev. John E. Farmer, former pastor of the Shannon street Methodist church of Milwaukee, has disappeared from his home in De Kalb, Ill. According to members of the congregation and personal friends, he has committed suicide. The disappearance was reported to the De Kalb police and a desperate effort is being made to find the missing man. It is feared that recent allusions to certain Chicago anti-trust made by a private detective was responsible for his disappearance. Friends of Dr. Farmer say a detective approached him some time ago with certain alleged information which he offered to repress on payment of $1,000. A blackmail scheme they say, had probably worn upon the nerves of Dr. Farmer and resulted in suicide.

Making Money On the Farm

IV.—Oat Growing

By C. V. GREGORY.
Author of "Home Course in Modern Agriculture"

NEXT to wheat, oats are the most widely grown small grain crop. It is a crop that is needed on every farm for feed, especially for young stock and horses. In the corn belt oats fill a place in the rotation that cannot well be taken by any other crop. The work of seedling and harvesting fits in well with the work of growing a corn crop; hence oats are and probably always will be an important crop in the corn belt.

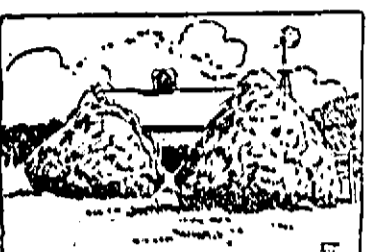

FIG. VII.—GOOD AND POOR STACKS.

ly considerably lower. Most farmers raise oats more because they have to than because they think there is any money in it. If handled rightly, however, oats can be made a money crop. One of the most important points in oat growing is the selection of seed that is adapted to the locality. Oats are a cool weather crop. The hot midsummer weather of the corn belt is one of the chief factors causing low oat yields. When the hot weather strikes the oats they blight and rust badly. Many times they crinkle down and do not fill well.

Advantage of Early Varieties.
The only way this can be avoided in the corn belt is to sow early varieties. These ripen before the hottest weather comes and escape many of the troubles that affect later oats. Early varieties are much less susceptible to rust than late ones are. The selection of rust proof varieties is the only way of combating this disease, since, unlike smut, it cannot be prevented by treating the seed.

Experiments at the Iowa experiment station show nine bushels more to the acre in favor of early varieties. The average of twelve years experiments at the Nebraska station gave the early oats fourteen bushels to the acre advantage. In good oat years—that is, those with a cool summer—the difference is not so marked. In such seasons the late oats yielded seven bushels to the acre less than the early, while the medium oats yielded a little more. In bad oat years—and in the corn belt four years out of five are bad from the oats standpoint—the early varieties yielded twenty-one bushels to the acre more than the late and thirteen bushels more than the medium.

The medium varieties are more convenient, as they do not crowd in on haying and corn plowing like the early ones do. The use of improved haying machinery is shortening the time required for putting up the hay crop, however. The advantage of early oats in yield will in most cases more than make up for the disadvantage of having the work crowded during the first half of July.

Early oats have another advantage in that they give the clover a better chance. Where the oats are not got off the ground until the last of July and dry weather follows, as it so often does, the clover makes little growth and is often killed out entirely. With the adoption of a systematic rotation clover will nearly always be seeded with oats, so that this is a point that cannot be ignored.

It is not advisable to ship in oats from a distance to seed the entire field. Often you can get good early seed from a neighbor at little more than market price. If there are no early oats in your community you can send away for a few bushels of a new variety and plant them in a corner of the field by themselves. If they give good satisfaction enough seed can be saved from them to seed the entire field the next season. In the northern part of the United States and in Canada, where the summers are cool, late varieties can be profitably grown. In such localities they give a greater yield and a larger, plumper oat.

Preparing the Seed.

After the seed has been procured the next step is to get it into shape to sow. This means a liberal use of the cleaning mill. A large per cent of the seed is shelled from the bin directly into the sower. Most farmers who do fan their oats simply run them through once to blow out the sticks and dirt and save out the weed seed. It pays well to run the oats through the mill two or three times to blow out all the light seed. The work can be done in winter when there is little else to do. The light oats that are blown out are just as good for feed as the others, and the heavy ones that are left are worth several times as much for seed. In experiments carried on to show the comparative value of light and heavy oats the light seed yielded forty-seven bushels to the acre, the medium fifty-four and the heavy sixty-two. The difference may not be this great every time, but it will always be great enough to pay well for the labor of fanning. There is an objection to using the heavy oats for seed in that they tend to become a little later each year. This can be avoided by introducing some new seed of an early variety every few years. Directions for breeding seed oats will be given in article 7.

After the oats are cleaned and graded they should be treated for smut. Smut is a black fungus that grows from a tiny spore that lodges beneath the hull when the oat is in bloom and the kernel open. When the hull closes the spore is held inside until the next season, when it sprouts and sends a thread up through the stem to the head. There the smut grows, producing a black mass where the head should be. Often as many as 15 per cent of the heads will be affected in this way. These black heads are not easily noticed, so that the damage is usually underestimated.

The simplest method of treatment is to spread the oats out on a tight floor and sprinkle them with a solution of one pound of formalin to forty gallons of water. This amount is sufficient for forty bushels of oats. Shovel the oats over two or three times until they are thoroughly wet, and then pile them up and cover them with blankets or sacks. The fumes from the formalin will penetrate beneath the hull and kill the smut spores. In the morning the oats should be spread out again and shoveled over occasionally until dry. They can be sowed wet, but in that case the seed should be set to sow about a bushel to the acre more, as they do not run through as readily. This work should be done on a warm day, as freezing while the oats are wet will injure the germination. This treatment costs only about a cent a bushel and is very effective.

Preparing the Seed Bed.

One of the most neglected points in oat culture is the preparation of the seed bed. Oats do better on a rather firm seed bed. If the field was in corn the year previous it will not be necessary to plow unless the ground is very hard. It should be disked thoroughly, however, to cut up the stalks and pulverize the upper two or three inches. It will usually be profitable to let the disk "lap half," as this does away with ridges and leaves the land in better shape. One harrowing after the disk leaves the ground in splendid shape to receive the seed.

Methods of Seeding.

There are several methods of seeding, of which the end gate sower is the worst and the disk drill the best. The two main objects in seeding are to get the seed in evenly and at up approximately the same depth. The end gate sower fulfills neither of these requirements. The broadcast sower scatters the seed evenly, but it is covered no better than with the end gate sower, since both depend upon the disk for covering. The disk drill is more expensive and does not get over the ground as rapidly, but it distributes the seed evenly and puts it at the same depth. The seed is dropped in furrows made by the disks and thoroughly covered, so that one harrowing is all that is necessary after drilling. Experiments show a considerable advantage in yield in favor of the disk drill.

At the Iowa station the average of four years' experiments showed nine bushels to the acre in favor of drilling over broadcasting. From half a bushel to a bushel less seed to the acre is required when a drill is used, as all the seed is put where it can grow to the best advantage. Clover has a better chance in drilled grain. The drill should be run north and south, so that the sun can shine in between the rows on the little clover plants.

Harvesting the Crop.

Preparation for harvest should be made by having the binder in perfect running order beforehand. If oats are not cut as soon as ripe they will almost surely go down and be lost. Great care should be taken in shocking to see that the bundles stand up firmly. If the straw is not too green the shocks should be capped, as a capped shock will shed rain better. A shock that stands up straight and is well capped will shed a great deal of rain without wetting in much. It is much better to stack than to thrash out of the shock. The oats will sweat somewhere, and they will be of better quality if they do it in the stack instead of in the bin. It has been proved many times over that there is nothing to be gained by thrashing oats from the shock. Oats that have been permitted to go through the sweating process in a well protected stack are always of better quality than those which have been hurried into the thrasher.

Every metal is believed by Gratin, a German chemist, to have its peculiar odor, which he regards as a gaseous transformation product. He has made some of the odors perceptible for a few moments at intervals by heating the metals to 122 degrees Fahrenheit.

THIS HICKORY ROCKER GIVES

Perfect Comfort
Fifteen Years
For Only $2.99

25 years of experience enables the manufacturer of these Hickory Comfort Chairs to make an article which is absolutely unsurpassed in comfort and durability. To any Janesville citizen who needs a porch chair this is a big opportunity.

These Rustic Rockers are made of thoroughly seasoned, young hickory poles. The frame is well bolted together. Where possible, all nails are clinched firmly back into wood. Hence, no working out of nail heads, as in some rustic furniture, nor will the frame warp out of shape by exposure to weather.

The seat is curved. The back is so shaped as to give the small of one's back a firm support, and thus the entire body is rested.

No chair will stand such hard usage, nor the continual exposure to the elements. No chair will give such perfect rest to the tired man or woman. Many Janesville people are ready to back up both statements.

Don't wait another day. Come in today and try one of these chairs yourself. They are made for you, and this week is the time to get them$2.99

Kidnaped.
Little three-year-old Margie was always anxious to relate to her young friends the interesting things that her father read in the paper. She was overheard a few days ago telling her little neighbor: "Yea, Edith, my father readed it in the morning paper, a little boy just as big as me, was kidnaped."

To Our Poor Relations.
There is no way a woman can be so sweet to poor relations in the country as to send them a package of old clothes by freight, with a postal card telling of the thing, so that everybody in the village will have the news of the expected second-hand clothes before the postal card gets out of the postoffice.—New York Times.

THE CITY'S SHAME.

The Gazette most heartily endorses the action of City Attorney Maxfield in his petition to the common council for permission to do something toward bettering the existing condition of the present street railway system. It regrets that the council saw fit to lay the matter over even until the next meeting. Delays are sometimes dangerous and no one can dispute the truth of Mr. Maxfield's assertions relative to the condition of the road. Janesville might better be without any street car system than the one that is permitted to exist. The plea that it does not pay its owners may be true, it is not disputed, but it is certain it does not pay a city the size of Janesville to allow it to continue operating the rickety cars and running in the haphazard manner it does.

It is a blot on the city's progress or any attempt to hold up its head as a municipality of prominence in the state. It is the laughing stock of visitors and the annoyance of the citizens generally. Either the present owners should be compelled to renovate it thoroughly, comply with its franchise or be put out of business. It has violated its franchise dozens of times. It violates it every day and yet it is permitted to go on unmolested. If a private concern made a public nuisance of itself there would be a quick remedy. As it is at best it would take months to have the franchise revoked and the delay of two weeks only postpones the date.

The road is owned by the estate of a wealthy Philadelphian, deceased. It is but one of their many holdings and the prohibitive price they place upon it has prevented others, who seek to give the city a good street car service from being able to do so. It is really held as a speculation pure and simple, and it sold the men who sell it will get a fat fee. Why delay for the feelings of men who are not interested in the city or for men who seek delays merely to pocket a fat fee.

In endorsing the City Attorney's action the Gazette feels that it voices the sentiment of the citizens generally. That the action proposed has been too long delayed. Business men, professional men and workers all over the city are interested in a betterment of the present disgraceful service.

The aldermen appreciate the necessity of action and will doubtless do something definite when the matter comes up before them for future consideration. They are representatives of the people and will work for their best interests without a doubt.

SOUTH AMERICAN WAR CLOUD.

The peace of South America is threatened. The war clouds are gathering. So many interests are involved that a half dozen nations may be parties to another destructive conflict. The trouble is over boundaries. Brazil and Bolivia determined to settle their difficulties through the pocketbook. The former bought disputed territory from the latter for $10,000,000.

Then Peru began to storm. It put forth the claim that part of the land sold by Bolivia belonged to it and, indeed, was a subject of arbitration at the time of the sale. The president of Argentina was the arbitrator.

On July 9 the ministers of Bolivia and Peru were invited to the foreign office in Buenos Ayres to hear the arbitral decision. The former stayed away, claiming afterwards that he did not wish to appear to commit his government to the acceptance of the decision, as his presence might have been interpreted to do. The Peruvian representative attended and his government at Lima has expressed satisfaction with the finding of the arbitrator, who divides the country in dispute about equally between the two countries.

As such a settlement means complications with Brazil, which had arranged to buy it all from Bolivia, the people of the latter country are up in arms. Rumor appears to have spread that the award was entirely in Peru's favor. The gathering mob gave vent to its displeasure in cries of "Down with Peru!" Events followed each other in quick succession. The ministers of the two countries were soon in danger. The Argentine representative was forced to seek protection in the home of the Bolivian president. The looting of Peruvian stores and the attacks upon foreigners, notably those from Peru and Argentina, easily became popular.

The situation is a complex one. The probabilities are that the Bolivians are sensitive about the steady loss of territory. Chile gained the coast provinces some years ago, and it has interests to be protected. Brazil is involved in connection with the purchase mentioned. Unless there is an apology to Argentina that country is likely to seek reparation in war. The rejection of the arbitration decision means war between Bolivia and Peru over the disputed boundary. Everything considered, it is a disturbing condition of affairs.

The peacekeepers must get busy at once if war is to be averted. The turn of events during the last few days means delay in the completion of the railroad the building which has promised so much for Bolivia and the other countries involved. A war will be disastrous from every point of view. If, through wise counsel of cooler heads, the present complication can be resolved without armed conflict it will be a great triumph for the cause of peace.

NEED WORKERS.

This morning's dispatches announce that fifty thousand workers are needed in the wheat fields of the west to garner the harvest. This is one of the surest signs of national prosperity that can be made. With plenty of food stuff growing and ready to harvest, money will be plenty. The men who have created corners in the world's food supply are not as optimistic as to two dollar wheat as they were and we may expect to see a drop in price. Still the farmer will receive a bumper crop for his summer's work and his profits will go into the banks and other lines of business. Cares will be needed to transport the grain to the markets and this will give employment to many in different lines so that for the next few months the number of the unemployed will be practically nil. So much for the harvest and national prosperity.

"Jim" Hill wants congress to quit tinkering with the "Tariff" and go home but the public has every indication that congress is afraid to go home at all.

An Australian Baron failed to marry a Chicago girl and committed suicide. While it is no joking matter for the Chicago girl it speaks well for the city she makes her home.

Mr. Taft may smile but what he says goes and congress knows it. It is better perhaps to smile than to carry a big stick after all.

After all that party platform pledge is not the spineless things that the opponents of the republican party would have us believe.

Wait until the Janesville street car system is improved—Well, that means waiting too long for this generation so we won't talk about it.

We have a president who absolutely refuses to be a figurehead and the men who created him can not see the joke.

Glenn Curtiss the New York newspaperman may yet take the contract to push those clouds away.

The list that Dr. Elton's made, of books that one should read, to round his education out, is very fine indeed. I recommend these volumes that he lists:—

THE all; they represent the best of the world, the gems of East and West. I strongly urge the young to keep these volumes on the shelf, but I'll be hanged if I will read such dreary stuff myself. A work by Louis Joseph Vance is good enough for me; and Arthur Stringer's corking yarns just fill my soul with glee; and when it comes to deathless song, my heart with rapture awells, the while I study out the curves of clever Carrie Wells. Another book of recent times has stirred this heart of mine; the great official baseball fiction, for A. D. nineteen-hundred; and when I yearn for heavy stuff, to stimulate the brain, there's nothing wrong with "Shakespeare's Death," by Samuel Clemens Twain. Of all the volumes in the world, that soothes the stricken soul, I call this best, these availing days: "Attempts to Reach the Pole," it treats of ice and polar bears, and Eskimos and snows, tobogganized thermometers, chilblains and frozen toes.

Heart to Heart Talks.

YOU SHALL NOT MARRY!

"I do not intend to permit a marriage that will breed more criminals. I will suspend sentence on the grand larceny charge, but if I hear of your marriage I will send you to jail."

Thus said Judge Foster of New York city to Albert E. Johnson, prisoner at the bar.

Johnson was out on suspension of sentence and had done something to violate his parole. A girl who claimed to be his fiancée interested for him.

Whereat the judge pronounced his hasty and heartless decision.

With what wisdom beyond his deserts has this judge been blessed? How should he know so much that is unknown? And how is he able to predict that the marriage of Johnson and his sweetheart will breed criminal children?

Does he know, pray, of such a thing as hereditary insanity?

Because one's father or grandfather or earlier forbear happened to be a thief, does that necessarily make one a criminal? If you go back far enough in any man's genealogy you can find a thief.

Hereditarily will account for some things, chiefly physical. Environment accounts for more. Is Albert Johnson apt to live a criminal life with rather than without a wife? Do the responsibilities of home and family tend to make a man wayward?

This Johnson is not a bad man, else the judge certainly would not turn him loose.

He cannot be so very bad if a respectable young woman loves him, pleads for him and wants to marry him.

Who is Judge Foster that he should step between two people who love each other? There is a higher court than this. It is the supreme court of love where Cupid presides.

It cannot be denied that mistaken marriages have caused much woe, but that is no indictment of marriage. There is no much danger in UNDERMARRIAGE as in OVERMARRIAGE.

Many a young man who has gone wrong in his earlier years has been made over into a good citizen by his wife. How does Judge Foster know it will be a failure in Johnson's case?

Marriage makes or mends men and women, but it is true that it is the most effective known means for the uplift of society.

If that girl loves Albert Johnson and he loves her the smartest thing Judge Foster can do is to let them marry.

Else what is to become of them?

A Test of Quality

A roofing will remain waterproof so long as the surface coating and saturation are not evaporated by the absorbing heat of the sun. (It is this element that destroys roofings and not the rain and cold as one might think.) That a roof is pliable when new is no indication of its quality—some of the most pliable new roofs will get brittle the quickest when exposed, being flooded with cheap saturation.

Cheap materials will not stand the sun while, high-grade products will. The advertising manufacturers will not guarantee their roofs unless frequently coated—they had better use first-class material and do less advertising.

When anyone says "guarantee" see it before you bite—note the provisions for re-coating. Any roofing will be waterproof if you paint it frequently. Lythoid is guaranteed without any re-coating whatsoever. To make a comparative test, attach samples of roofings, including Lythoid, to a board and expose to the sun and weather for a few months, observing how they rapidly dry out while Lythoid remains pliable and hardly discolored.

To make an accelerated test, attach samples to a board and hold close to a heated stove. The result will be self-explanatory.

Similarity in appearance is no guide to quality.

Painless Dentistry

This A. M. a patient said as I extracted a badly ulcerated tooth, "Why, Doctor, that didn't hurt." "Of course not," said I. "Well, that's what I had heard, but I never believed it before."

You may never be able to believe it until you have faith enough to let me do your Dentistry.

It is a pleasure to me to see the look of relief upon my patients' faces when they discover that I really have not hurt them.

I know that my work is good work. I know that my prices are the most reasonable in the city.

My patients tell me that I hurt them the least of any dentist they ever employed.

And these things are what I aim to keep doing and deservings.

TWO ROBBERIES IN CITY LAST NIGHT

Edward Donahoe Had Clothes And Money Taken—Italian Laborer Was Robbed.

Two robberies that occurred sometime during the night were reported to the police this morning.

A clever thief secured entrance to the home of Edward Donahoe last night while the family were sleeping, making his way in through a rear window. A pair of striped trousers and a vest containing thirty dollars, a check for eight dollars, a receipt for fifty dollars and a white handkerchief were the only things taken by the burglar. The only clue left was a large footprint on the left wall.

Two Italians, Jack and Mike Rice, aged 22 and 20, who have been hanging around the railroad yards, disappeared during the night and with them vanished a suit of dark clothes, a brown coat, a pair of black slippers, a gold hunting case watch, three razors and a 22-caliber revolver belonging to Tony Ventre, a countryman of theirs, who works nights for the St. Paul railroad. The pair have been working intermittently for the St. Paul road on the section, laboring hard enough to buy themselves food. Their favorite haunt was the bunk car that sheltered the day laborers and which stands on the track across from the repair shop of the road. This morning they and their belongings were missing and the crime is laid to them.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM WATERY GRAVE

Eleven Year Old Youth Rescued From Drowning Saturday Night.

Elroy Munger, a lad about ten years old, had a narrow escape from drowning Saturday night swimming in the river at the foot of Illinois street. That it had not been for the presence of Lyle Ellis, he would undoubtedly have lost his life. Munger, after swimming across the river and back in the rear of the Ameripoli Greenhouse, swam down the river to the sand bar and then across to the west side. On his way back, just as he was about to reach the shore in the rear of John Seelman's residence, his strength left him and he sank. He was just going under for the second time when Ellis, who had perceived his plight, reached him and dragged him to safety.

Then why worry?" We had to laugh. Do you?—Bedford (La.) Free Press.

JUSTICE GIVEN TO SEVERAL OFFENDERS

Municipal Court Has Busy Time This Morning With Drunks and Others

Four offenders appeared in municipal court this morning and were given on jail sentences varying in length from six days to three months.

Liam M. McComb was sentenced to pay a fine of four dollars and costs or eight days in jail for drunkenness. He went to jail. George Owens and Jas. Lowry were each charged with the same offense and will spend six days in confinement in default of the necessary cash with which to pay their fines.

Charles McNeill, arrested last night for indecent exposure in the Court House park, was given the choice between a fifty-dollar fine with trimmings and a three months' sojourn in the Reformatory. As he lacked decency as well as money, he too went to jail.

Mike Riley, drunkard, and Tom Rice, alleged street merchant, are both occupying the same cell in the lock-up today, the former charged with drunkenness and the latter with begging on the streets. Riley has three pairs of shoe strings, while his claims are his stock in trade but which, from the way he treasures them, must be valuable heirlooms.

HAVE NOT FOUND CAUSE OF DEATH OF BENWITZ YET

Wife Believes That He Was Robbed And Thrown From the Train on Way Home.

Mystery still surrounds the manner in which Albert H. Bonwitz, the Janesville stone-mason, who was returning to his home from Watertown, received the injuries which caused his death. Whether he fell from the train or was thrown from it is unknown, but the robbery theory is strong in the mind of his widow.

When Bonwitz left Watertown Saturday night, and all indications point that he did take the passenger train for Janesville, he had with him two weeks' wages, less his board bill, the price of his ticket, and perhaps a few miscellaneous. He was receiving for his labor four dollars a day, and although he may not have been working every day for the past two weeks, that he must have had between twenty-five and thirty dollars on his person is the belief of Mrs. Bonwitz, who is the widow of the deceased.

The statement of Mrs. Bonwitz, with whom the deceased boarded, who says that when Bonwitz paid him, besides his board money, the stone-mason had in his purse an amount of paper money. Then, too, Mr. Bonwitz was in the habit of returning every two weeks to Janesville and leaving the wages which he had received here with his wife. When the searching parties found him there was but a little over four dollars in silver on his person.

It is known that Bonwitz bought a ticket for Janesville, at Watertown, but the Ft. Atkinson police expressed the opinion that he and missed the Saturday train, and tried to ride in one of two-cars trains which passed through there afterward. It was the belief of the Ft. Atkinson authorities that he was riding on the first of these and fell off, as the crew of the second train, which was carrying a carnival company to Hobart, saw him and reported it at the Port, but did not stop to pick him up.

On the passenger train Saturday night which Bonwitz is supposed to have taken to return home, was Mrs. Branger and her daughter, of Oakbrook, who are in the city visiting with Mrs. Friday and Mrs. Schumacher on West avenue. Mrs. Branger remembers that after the train left Jefferson and had gone some distance into the country, the speed at which they were travelling was slackened and there seemed to be some commotion in another part of the train.

Two other passengers, who were sitting near her, arose and she heard them say, "Well, he's got off," evidently supposing that the train had slowed up for him to alight. Mrs. Bonwitz thinks that it was at this point that Mr. Bonwitz either fell off or was thrown from the train.

That Bonwitz was not in an intoxicated condition, nor had he been drinking is stated by the Fort Atkinson physician who attended him up until the time of his death. Monday morning at 12:30, five hours after he was taken to the Fort Atkinson hospital, he was partially conscious when brought to the hospital and attempted to speak, but his utterances were incoherent.

Later his jaws were shut but he evidently understood his caretakers when they spoke to him, opening his mouth when they asked him to, to receive the medicine they gave him in the effort to save his life.

Beyond the scratches on the left side of his face, received when he fell, there were no outward signs of any great injury, and no bones were broken.

The affair will be investigated, also the report that he left Watertown in company with another man who has not been seen since.

The funeral will take place from his late residence tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

PAUL AMBROSE HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Seven-Year-Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Ambrose Badly Injured This Afternoon.

While running across the street on East Milwaukee street, just above the Colvin bakery, Paul Ambrose, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Ambrose, was thrown to the pavement by an automobile belonging to M. G. Joffis and was severely bruised about the forehead and head. The car was driven by Malcolm Joffis, Jr., who with a younger brother, the only occupants of the car. Young Ambrose was playing on a tree north side of the street and started to cross the street as the car came up the hill. Just as the auto came up the hill, Paul was across the street, the boy stopped to call to another playmate, turning in the opposite direction from which he was going. The auto then struck the boy in the back of the head, bruising it and throwing him to the pavement. The fall injured his forehead quite severely. The youngster was carried to his home a block away and Dr. Farnsworth was called to dress the wounds. Just how severe his injuries are is unknown as yet. Spectators estimated that the rate of the automobile was traveling at the rate of about fifteen miles an hour to make the grade. Young Joffis saw the boy and tried to avoid him, running his car almost into the curb. Had he hit him any other way than he did he might have killed the child.

Saved by Brass Helmet. Brass helmets worn by English fire fighters occasionally prove useful. At a recent fire 14 tons of glass fell on one man's head and completely buried him and when he had been dug out down to his shoulders another shower of glass came down and buried him for four again. He was in a hospital for four months and glass was coming out of different parts of his body for six months afterward, but he is still one of the best men of his company.

"Try, try again." is not always a good creed. It will not avail for the man who is trying to sell or rent his house solely by the use of a placard in the window. In such cases you haven't really tried at all until you have advertised.

BUILDERS' HARDWARE DISPLAY.

The McNamara Hardware Co. are showing an excellent display of the P. & F. Corbin builders' hardware. The Corbin company's goods are recognized as standard all over the United States. The display consists of locks, unit locks, double acting hinges, door checks, fashioned in spun brass, oxidized copper, nickel and glass.

The unit locks are unique in having the keyhole in the knob. The Corbin people were the first to get out and perfect this unit lock. These locks are very neat and attractive, being simple in design and finish, the simplicity lends attractiveness. The door checks are operated by compressed air, allowing a door to close without slamming. The double acting door hinges are designed especially for swinging doors, allowing them to swing either way freely.

This display is very good and should be seen by every contractor and builder, as well as every prospective builder.

Three Vegetables Stewed at Once Over One Lid or Flame.

This money and space are saved by the cooking utensil designed by an Ohio man, and all housekeepers will readily understand the merits of this article by merely glancing at the illustration. This utensil consists of a steppan with three separate compartments in which three vegetables may be cooked at once over one lid of a stove or one flame of a gas range. The pan comprises a skeleton frame of bottom and two horse and side bars and three receptacles, one taking up half of the capacity and the others being quarters. Each of these receptacles has a clip which fits over the rim of the frame and by which it may be lifted into place or out again. As each of these vessels is separate it is not necessary that the vegetables to be cooked in them require the same length of time. As one is done the partition can be lifted out. Such a utensil, when used on a gas stove, uses up only one-third as much gas as under ordinary conditions.

KENOSHA JURIST MISSING
SECOND TIME IN 18 YEARS

Judge Joseph R. Clarkson Disappears from Home Under Circumstances Recalling Former Strange Case.

Kenosha, Wis., July 20.—Judge Joseph R. Clarkson, junior member of the law firm of Baker & Clarkson and a man well known throughout the country as an author, lecturer and jurist, has disappeared.

He has been missing since last Wednesday night and the fact of his disappearance has revived the story of his mysterious disappearance from Omaha 18 years ago, which attracted public attention all over the United States, but which was never explained, notwithstanding the fact that he returned home after five months' absence.

At that time it was stated that Judge Clarkson had suffered a lapse of memory, and the circumstances attending the case were so strange and improbable that the story became a study for psychic organizations all over the country. Clarkson was supposed to have been drowned. His clothing was found on the bank of a small lake near Omaha, where he had been widely known as a district judge and politician, and search for his body was kept up for months.

The judge came to himself while working as a common laborer in a lumber yard at Clinton, Ia., and at once returned to Omaha and resumed his practice of law.

The question that is being asked everywhere, in Kenosha is: "Has Judge Clarkson had another lapse of memory?" Last Wednesday night he was in consultation with District Attorney R. V. Baker, his law partner, and the two had arranged for the work on Thursday. He left the office with the plan to return early in the morning. He was in the best of health and spirits and went out with the understanding that on the following day his partner should leave for a long vacation and he take up the work of the office.

Clarkson's absence was discovered at noon on the following day, but the reason for it is still deep in mystery.

SLAIN BANKER HAD EVIDENCE.

Letter from Miller to Mrs. Saylor in Victim's Papers.

Waukegan, Ill., July 20.—Much new evidence in the Saylor-Miller murder case has been discovered. Also partial contents of the sealed packet left by J. H. Saylor, the murdered banker, have been made public by a person who saw what it contained. It appears that the only thing in the packet which bears directly on the tragedy is an intercepted letter from Dr. J. H. Saylor to Mrs. Saylor. It is said this letter was written in endearing terms and convinced Saylor that his wife was intimate with Miller.

Saylor's will, about which there has been so much speculation, was also in the packet. The will was drawn some time ago, and left a substantial sum to Mrs. Saylor, her daughter, and Mrs. John Grundon, his mother-in-law, now dead. However, this will cannot be probated, as it is only signed by one person, and the laws of Illinois require that it be witnessed by two persons.

The banker's widow is being closely watched by the sheriff and jail attendants, who fear she will lose her reason. Her mental and physical condition is pitiful. She spends the day cowering in a corner of her cell and her nights tossing on her couch.

A special grand jury to-day began an investigation of the murder.

JURY ACQUITS GINGLES GIRL.

Also Declares Her "White Slave" Story Is Untrue.

Chicago, July 20.—In an unusual verdict the jury in the sensational case of Ella Gingles the Irish lace-maker, declared the girl not guilty of theft and at the same time branded as unfounded and false the remarkable and revolting story of attacks in the Wallington hotel told by the girl on the witness stand.

Although Miss Agnes Barrette, who accused the Irish girl of theft was not on trial the jury took the unprecedented course of declaring her not guilty of the "white slave" and other charges made by the defendant.

Whether the state's attorney's office would follow up the verdict of the jury and ask the indictment of the Irish girl on a charge of perjury, or for the indictment of those most closely connected with her case, State's Attorney Wayman refused to state.

Ella Gingles and a crowd of club women were jubilant at the acquittal, but refused to discuss the second portion of the verdict. Even after hearing the decision of the jurors the girl repeated her remark: "It's all true."

CARRIES NOSE IN HIS POCKET. Ohio Man Tries to Save Smeller Severed in Fight.

Gallipolis, O., July 20.—In a desperate fight at Kannauga, near Point Pleasant, W. Va., Albert Thiveneer cut Robert Darnes' throat from ear to ear and then disemboweled him, leaving him in a dying condition. Darnes had bitten off Thiveneer's nose. After searching for some time Thiveneer found his nose lying in the dirt. He put the nose in his pocket and carried it four miles to a physician to have it sewed on.

Mrs. Hayes' Body Cremated. Denver, Col., July 20.—The body of Mrs. J. Addison Hayes, daughter of Jefferson Davis, was cremated at the Riverside Crematory in this city and the urn containing the ashes was sent to Colorado Springs where the funeral will be held to-morrow.

Indiana Masonic Lodge Loses Bequest Through Child's Birth.

Louisville, Ky., July 20.—By the birth of a child to Mrs. J. E. Deshon of Jeffersonville, Ind., the Clark Lodge Free and Accepted Masons loses $100,000.

The money represents the value of a farm in Franklin county, Kentucky, which James A. Holt, a member of the Jeffersonville lodge, willed it, provided Mrs. Deshon and another niece should die without issue. However the lodge holds a portion of the estate in trust and will after ten years build an orphan's home from the money earned interest, according to Mr. Holt's will.

Evansville Street Car Dynamited. Evansville, Ind., July 20.—An attempt to dynamite a street car was made late last night when a cartridge was placed upon the tracks. No one was hurt and little damage was done to the car which was empty except for the crew of strike-breakers.

BLOOD KILLS GERMS
Good Blood Made By Good Food.

If one can surely turn food into good red blood it will combat and conquer disease more times than disease will win.

Any physician knows that good blood and plenty of it is the best germicide known and surely and safely cures disease when medicines fail.

One of the many illustrations is that of tuberculosis, which refuses to yield to medicine but must give way to good blood. A man from Philadelphia writes:

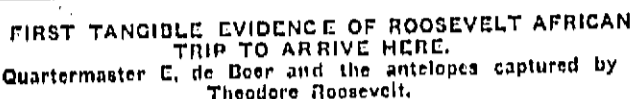

"I have been fighting tuberculosis for some years, and with a weak stomach was losing ground slowly every year. I had tried many kinds of medicine without relief, and finally got so that my stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and lungs were affected. My stomach would retain no food but peptonized milk and I was down to 50 lbs. in weight. The doctors said about two years ago that I had but a month or two to live.

About that time I was put on Grape-Nuts and cream. I agreed from the start and in a few days I began to feel increased strength, so I kept on, with the result that the healthy blood has driven the disease from every organ of my body except the lungs and is slowly driving it from them.

I have gained greatly in vitality and strength and added 29 lbs. to my weight. If I can keep on as I have been, it seems clear that I will get entirely well, thanks to old Dame Nature whose work was made possible by Grape-Nuts food which I could digest." "There's a Reason."

Sam Brown's Pay Comes Up—Saloon

Licenses Granted—Streets Ordered Improved.

Three applications for saloon licenses, those of Mrs. M. McShane,

Mrs. M. R. Rait, and William H. Carroll, were turned down, two applications, those of Mrs. James Dalton, and Patrick J. Rider were granted, the eight day license permits were again held over, and other important business was transacted at a long and interesting session of the common council held last night which lasted from eight o'clock until half past eleven.

The matters taken up were of a varied nature and ranged from the question of liquor licenses to street improvements and contemplated action against the Janesville Street Railway to compel the company to improve their service and equipment or forfeit their franchise. Eight aldermen were present at the meeting, three absent being Aldermen Clark and Richardson.

The proceedings in connection with the granting of saloon licenses to the three applicants who were turned down were of an interesting nature and the announcement of Mayor

Carroll that he had refused to sign the application of William Carroll brought forth a vigorous protest from at least one of the aldermen, J. J.

Dalla, who expressed himself as follows in regard to what he termed the discrimination against Carroll:

"Your Honor, as far as I can see,

there has been no evidence produced either by the mayor or any member of the council to show why these applications should be refused. I have not heard any, either in the council chamber or the so-called star-chamber sessions. I do not see why, if there has been no unfavorable evidence presented, that this application should be refused and until such evidence is produced I shall vote for license."

Notwithstanding Mr. Dalla's declaration, when the question came up for final settlement, there was not a dissenting vote when the motion was made that the city clerk be ordered to return the $500 license fee to Mr.

M. McShane, Mrs. M. R. Rait, and William H. Carroll. No objection was made to either Mrs. James Dalton or Patrick J. Rider. No action was taken on the application of Mike Conroy and James Joylan as their application had not yet passed the required time limit by one day.

Maxfield's Petition.

The petition of City Attorney Maxfield was another interesting part of the program and although no denial of the charges was made, nor was there any discussion as regards the truth of the allegations, the matter was laid over until the next meeting at the request of Mayor Carroll. After the petition had been read by the city clerk, it was referred to the Judiciary committee and upon the return of the committee from the committee rooms, the motion was made by Alderman Dalla that the city attorney be empowered to take such steps as might be necessary to compel the railway company to improve their service, failing in this to bring proceedings and annual their franchise.

"I hate to put this motion," said the mayor, whereupon a motion was made by Ald. Brown that the petition be laid over until the next meeting, which was carried unanimously.

"Thank you," was the mayor's heartfelt acknowledgment.

Brown's Back Pay.

The old question, that of paying

Officer Sam Brown the $90 which is alleged to be due him for work between March 2 and April 17, a year ago was brought up by Ald. Brown, and resulted in some complicated parliamentary decisions before the matter was finally adjusted.

There is no question that Mr.

Brown has not earned his money," said Ald. Brown in his plea for the officer. "The city hired him in good faith. Nothing but a technicality holds back his money. He needs the money, has rightfully earned it, and it seems to me that a corporation assessed at a value of $10,000,000 can do better than hold back the small sum of $90 to which it has no right."

Mr. Brown then moved that the report of the finance committee, in which Mr. Brown's claim was incorporated, be adopted, even over the mayor's veto. This was out of order by the mayor's decision and the motion was made that the section relating to the officer's salary be made a separate motion. This was done and on motion of Ald. Buchholz, action was deferred until the next meeting and the question referred to the finance committee.

City Marshall's Report.

The report of Chief Appleby for the month of June was presented by Ald.

Shorland and was received and placed on file. The report shows eighty-two arrests. They were for the following causes: Assault and battery, 3;

drunkenness, 70; larceny, 2; assault,

1; watch-traders, 2; incorrigible, 1; statutory offense, 2. Forty-five of those arrested appeared in court, the remainder being discharged from the chief's office.

Public Improvements.

Various orders were presented and adopted for sidewalk, street, and gutter improvements, including a concrete curb and gutter on Chatham street, a storm sewer on Racine street, and various improvements on

Madison, N. High, Washington, S.

Bluff, S. First, and Division streets.

Public Library.

Ald. Evans presented the report of the public library for the year and this was read by the clerk. The library board presented the exact financial status of the library, also statistics with regard to new borrowers and the number of books in circulation. They also asked for an appropriation of $5,000. "The report was received and placed on file. Mayor

Carroll then announced the appointment of Michael Hayes and H. L. Mc-Namara to succeed themselves as members of the board for a term of three years from June 30, 1930, and that of Judge C. L. Fifield to succeed

David Conger for the same term.

The appointments were confirmed.

Insurance.

Chairman Evans of the committee on public buildings then read an order instructing the clerk to renew the insurance on the detention hospital, which expired July 11, in the sum of $1,000, the premium on which, for two years is $20. The order was carried.

Oil Sprinkling.

Residents of Washington street from W. Bluff to Racine presented a petition through Ald. Evans to be allowed to sprinkle that portion of the street with watered gas, at an expense of six and one-half cents a foot, the expense to be borne by the property owners. The city was asked to roll the street. The petition was granted.

structed the clerk to order the Wis-

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

There is a great fellowship in my heart for any one—whatever other faults or failings he may have—who lives by the glorious motto: "You never can tell till you try."

And I have but little patience for anyone, whatever his other virtues may be, whose perpetual motto for himself and advice for the rest of the world be:

"Let well enough alone."

How can you tell a thing is well enough until you've tried in every way to make it better.

All the progress that was ever made in the world came from experiments—attempts to make well enough better.

And of all the experiments that were ever tried, none said: "Let well enough alone."

"What a good maid you have," I said to a woman I was visiting the other day when her quiet, capable maid had retired into the kitchen.

"If I hadn't had the courage to try an experiment I wouldn't have had her," she answered.

"You see when I got her she hadn't been over from Sweden but a week. When I came back from the intelligence office and told my friends I had engaged a girl who couldn't speak a word of English they said I was crazy."

"I couldn't afford to get a more experienced one," I said, "and I felt I must have some help."

"She'll be worse than nothing. You won't be able to do a thing with her," they told me.

"They got me into such a state that I was on the very verge of telephoning down to say I had changed my mind. And then I thought, 'It can't do any harm to try' and I tried it."

"And you see, Of course, Hilda needed a good deal of training. And of course she did some queer things at first. She threw away the Roquefort cheese because it smelt bad and she took a bath in the bathtub when I told her to wash it and did lots of funny things like that. But she never was more bother than was worth and now she's a treasure."

"And if she hadn't been good I wouldn't have kept her, need I?"

"I can tell you, I'm never going to let myself be wet-blanketed in the future. I'm going to try things."

"Out of the frying pan into the fire" is a cousin of "Let well enough alone."

If Hilda had not turned out a good maid, my friend, as she so sensibly remarked, need not have kept her.

If you do jump out of the frying pan and find you have jumped into the fire, in this time out of ten you can jump back.

Did you ever think of that?

So strong is my feeling over the wet-blanketed-can't-be-done class that, despite her absurdity, I think I even like the lady of the "Never can tell till you try rhyme" better.

Did you ever meet her? Then let me introduce you—

"There was a young lady said 'Why Can't I look in my ear with my eye? If I put my mind to it perhaps I can do it, You never can tell till you try.'"

Forty Years Ago

Janesville Daily Gazette, July 20, 1863.—When our German fellow citizens set out for a good time, they are not disposed to let untoward circumstances intervene to prevent. Hence although they went out to their picnic with the sunlight playing around their banners, and were afterward enveloped in a rain storm, they did not quit the field, but despite the elements, remained masters of the situation. We were apprised of this by the fact that in the midst of a heavy shower

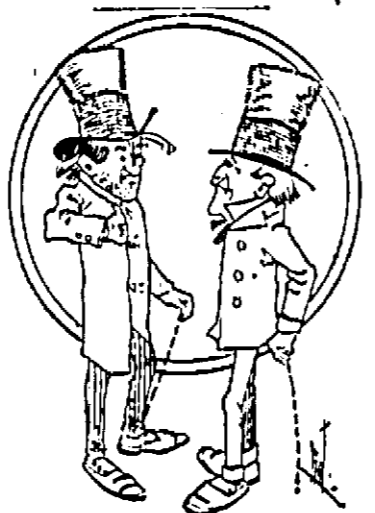

"At once there rose so wild a yell Within that deep and narrow dell," that it was quite manifest that the full tide of enjoyment was in successful flow.
